

Automate accounts payable for increased efficiency

Introducing Ricoh's process automation solution for accounts payable

Automating accounts payable drives value for people and teams

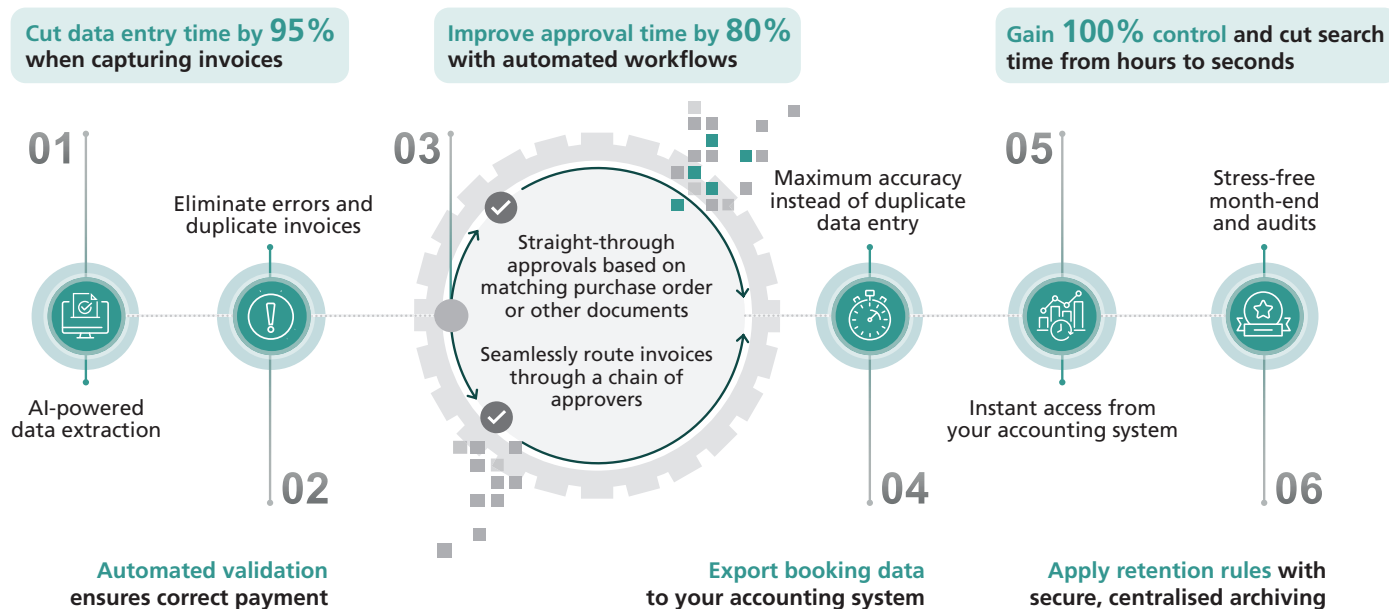

According to our research*, 27% of finance directors say that insufficient investment in automation – which leaves employees bogged down by manual processes and administrative tasks – is the top factor impacting employee productivity. Manual data entry, time-consuming document retrieval, and lack of visibility are common issues that often result in late payments, duplication, and high processing costs per invoice.

Ricoh's process automation solution for accounts payable makes it easy to capture, process, and archive invoices, putting you in control of your cash flow and giving time back to your team.

* "Fulfilment through Work" research, Ricoh Europe 2024. The research was conducted by Opinion Matters, among a sample of 7,000 respondents who are office workers within companies employing 1-1000+ people across France, the UK, Ireland, Germany, Netherlands, Spain, and Italy.

How it works

Invoices are captured upon arrival, whether it is via email or scan. The solution intelligently extracts key data from incoming invoices using advanced recognition software, matches it with related documents such as purchase orders, and checks for errors and duplicates. This ensures accurate data capture and efficient processing, with minimal manual input.
